PRESS ANNOUNCEMENT

Elita: stylish weaves from Harlequin Harris

Harlequin Harris will launch Elita, a supremely chic collection of lustrous fabrics, inspired by an elegant fusion of Art Nouveau and Art Deco motifs.

Suitable for curtains, cushions and bedspreads, Elita is the company's first collection made from Trevira CS. This highly versatile and practical fabric can be used for both domestic and contract/hospitality applications.

Designed by the Harlequin Harris Studio, Elita works in close harmony with the autumn 2008 launches: the graceful Art Deco-inspired Arkona wallpapers and velvets and the Celeste range of stunning plains shot through with metallics.

Elita comprises four elegant designs:

Evalina: a voluptuous trailing floral
Metra: a chic stripe in combinations of 4 stunning colours
Ilona: sinuous flowing curves in a two-tone combination
Lilita: a versatile, graceful all-over leaf motif

Elita is enhanced by a superbly sophisticated colour palette: subtle yet still bold, unpredictable yet highly fashionable, it provides the perfect solution for any interior scheme.
